Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bristor of Indianapolis, on Way Here For Visit Escape Uninjured

HIT BY RECKLESS DRIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawson of Indianapolis Brought Here for Treatment After Crash

Two automobile accidents happened Sunday in the vicinity of Rushville, in which the occupants escaped with cuts and bruises, but several machines were damaged.

A touring car in which several people were riding, struck a culvert west of Arlington and turned over, injuring two. The driver's name was not learned but the two other passengers who were injured were said to be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawson of Indianapolis.

They were brought to the Dr. Sexton hospital and Mr. Lawson was said to be the most seriously hurt. One of his hands was badly cut and bruised, and several stitches were required to close the wounds. His wife also was severely cut but neither suffered broken bones.

Sunday afternoon late, two cars smashed head-on on the road just west of here. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bristor of Indianapolis were driving toward Rushville to visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Wooden. Frank Abercrombie of this city was going west toward them, when a Ford touring car attempted to swing in around the Abercrombie machine, and failed to clear the oncoming car.

Both machines were badly smashed, and the occupants were bruised and cut. The driver of the Ford was not known. The Abercrombie machine was steered clear of the collision, avoiding a serious smash-up.

PARIS A TUMULT AS AIRMAN ARRIVE

American Round the World Fliers Make Special Effort to Reach French Capital for Holiday

ENDURE GREAT HARDSHIPS

First Thing Desired by Weary Airmen Was Place to go to Bed—Needed Rest Sacrificed

(By United Press)

Paris July 14—Three weary American airmen, with bloodshot eyes and wind burnt faces, streaked with lines of suffering, piloted their airplanes to Paris today, having flown more than two thirds of the way around the world, and the first thing they wanted to do was to go to bed.

The tumultuous welcome of Paris in holiday garb and the rejoicing of their countrymen here were music in the American world flyers' ears, but what they craved most was a pillow.

Lieutenants Smith, Nelson and Wade, who flew here today from Vienna, appeared nearly exhausted by their efforts. They showed the marks of the hardships they had endured—the burning heat of India and the biting frozen blasts of the northern Pacific had left their imprint.

"We feel fine, except for loss of sleep," Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the commander, told the United Press. "We are going right to bed."

The Americans had done their bit for France on this country's national fête day—sacrificing some badly needed rest at Vienna in order to arrive here on July 14, "Bastille Day." Their coming was the climax of the holiday.

"We encountered a severe storm after leaving Vienna," Lieutenant Smith reported. "Our ships were badly buffeted, and for an hour we flew in a heavy rainstorm."

"The flight commander himself showed the strain of his efforts. He has suffered from dysentery and a fractured rib, but has clung gamely to the task at hand."

Washington, July 14—With three quarters of their route behind them now, the American flyers are about to enter the last stage of their flight.

Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, said today he expected to see them reach home soil again at Boston about August 10.

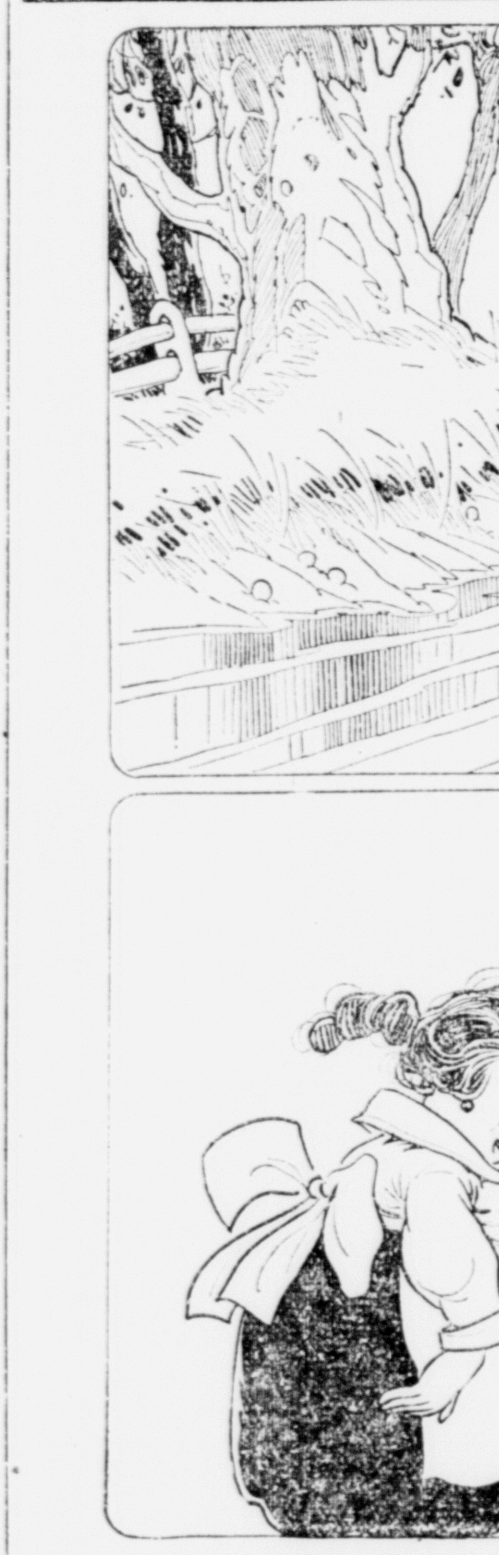

To date the flyers have covered 18,035 miles in 118 days. They have actually spent 239 hours and 33 minutes in the air covering an average of about 75 miles an hour while flying.

Before them still stretches a route of 7,296 miles, divided into two stages, from Paris to Boston, 4,466 miles and from Boston to Santa Monica, California, their starting point, 2,830 miles.

PROBABLY SEEK AN INSANITY HEARING

Attorneys For Millionaire Chicago Youths Will File Papers at Session July 21

TRIAL DATE SET AUGUST 4

Defense May Attempt to Obtain Insanity Hearing Rather Than Face Criminal Trial

(By United Press)

Chicago, July 14—Attorneys engaged by the millionaire Leopold and Loeb families in an effort to save their 19-year-old sons from the gallows may demand that the youths be given an insanity hearing instead of a criminal trial, according to present indications.

Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Dickie Loeb are scheduled to go to trial August 4 on charges of murdering 14-year-old Robert Franks.

But on July 21, Judge John R. Cokerly will hear any and all motions defense counsel may have to offer. At this hearing it is expected that Clarence Darrow, heading attorneys for the defense, will ask that Leopold and Loeb be given an insanity hearing rather than a murder trial.

The main line of the defense so far plotted by Darrow and his aides is a plea that the youthful murderers are insane. If Leopold and Loeb were found insane they would be confined to a sanitarium—if they were found sane, then he could plan an entirely new defense to be used in the trial for murder.

But because of the defendants' confessions of the crime Darrow admits the task of framing a defense exclusive of the insanity plea would be difficult.

More than a dozen medical experts have examined young Leopold and Loeb. These men are practically unanimous in their belief that the boys may be declared insane, Darrow said. Having just about finished their tests they now are compiling their findings into such a form as can be used in arguments before a jury.

X-ray pictures, medical charges, diagrams and reams of expert testimony will be available. The lives of Leopold and Loeb will be opened up and charted by "curves" explaining the events which led to the murder of the Franks boy.

Leopold and Loeb are both standing up well under prison confinement. They have kept themselves in splendid physical condition and apparently are cheerful.

BRYAN IS WELCOMED HOME

People of Lincoln Acclaim Nominee For Vice President

(By United Press)

Lincoln, Neb., July 14—Gov. Charles W. Bryan, democratic vice presidential nominee arrived home just before noon today and was greeted with ear breaking din from several thousand automobile horns, bands and factory sirens.

A crowd, estimated at 10,000, filled the station platforms. With the Elks band playing "Keeping in With the Union" in the van, the line of marchers got started. Business was at a standstill, the populace jamming the sidewalks and crowded windows in office buildings. Everywhere a bedlam of noise almost drowned out bands and drum corps in the parade.

From the business district the marchers swung down the avenue, leading to the governor's mansion, where his wife and family were waiting for him.

Costs in case of Miller Against Thompson Total $31.65

A law suit that was heard several weeks ago in Justice Steel's court, was decided today, and the entry made in the case of Ed Miller against John Thompson. The court found for the defendant on his cross complaint, and against the plaintiff on his complaint.

Each party filed a statement for an account, with Miller alleging that Thompson owed him $158.26 and with Thompson filing a counter claim for $195. The decision of the court was for $26.65 and costs against Miller, in favor of Thompson. The costs almost equalled the judgment, which amounted to $31.65.

POLITICAL CAMPS REVIVE ACTIVITY

State Headquarters Are Again Buzzing After the Lull During the Two Conventions

G. O. P. LEADERS RELIEVED

Glad That Ralston Failed in Nominating Because of State Ticket—Fall Campaign Discussed

Indianapolis, Ind., July 14—State political headquarters are taking on renewed life after a month of inactivity while interest was centered on the Republican and Democratic National Conventions.

Among Republican leaders there was a general feeling of relief that their campaign problems are simplified by the fact that Senator Ralston is not the Democratic nominee for president.

His withdrawal from the race just as a drive to swing the nomination for him was gaining formidable power places Indiana definitely in the Coolidge column this fall, according to the opinion of the Republicans.

During the convention when it appeared that Ralston would be the Democrats' choice, the state Republican leaders conceded he would carry Indiana and sweep most of the state ticket in office with him.

Republican organization plans are nearly completed, according to Daily McCoy, state chairman. Details for the fall campaign were discussed at the mid-summer meeting of Indiana editors at West Baden Friday and Saturday.

Ed Jackson, Republican nominee, Frederick Schortemeier, candidate for secretary of state, Governor Branch and other leaders were in attendance at the gathering.

In the Democratic camp there is no effort to conceal disappointment over Ralston's withdrawal from the race. The men who worked for Ralston throughout the long session in New York were not seeking the nomination of Ralston through pride in a native son alone.

They also had an eye to his ability as a campaigner as shown by his race for governor and the battle with Albert J. Beveridge for the senatorship.

Dr. Carleton McCulloch, Democratic nominee for governor was one of those puzzled over Ralston's move. McCulloch however, expressed optimism over the outlook after the nomination of Davis.

Dr. McCulloch will start his speaking tour about September 1.

Leaders of both parties are watching the third party movement headed by Senator LaFollette with some anxiety over the result his candidacy may have on the campaign. In some quarters it is predicted his candidacy will cut heavily into the ranks of both major parties.

VACATION SCHOOL GIVES A PROGRAM

Many People are Turned Away From Union Meeting at First Presbyterian Church Sunday Night

SONGS, DANCES AND DRILLS

"A Sermon From the Sea" is Preached by the Rev. H. W. Harget at M. E. Church

The Vacation Bible School program at the First Presbyterian church brought out an overflow house Sunday night and many people had to be turned away. The total enrollment of the school was 97, thirty of whom were boys. The school lasted for five weeks. Fifteen did not miss a day. There were thirty-five who did not miss a day after they enrolled and found how pleasant the school was. Some went a few days and then left on their summer vacation. Others came in to take their places.

The motto of the Vacation Bible School is: "And they helped every one his neighbor, be of good cheer." The spirit of this motto is emphasized all through the school.

Every morning in closing the school the pupils salute the American flag and pledge allegiance also to the Christian flag. The salute to the Christian flag is made by placing the right hand over the left breast. The pledge is: "I pledge allegiance to the Christian flag and to the Savior for whose kingdom it stands, on brotherhood, uniting all mankind in service and love."

The children are always taught to give the place of honor to the Christian flag, said the Rev. Gibson Wilson the pastor, because when it is honored, greater honor comes to our flag. When they leave the school to go home they pass out under the two flags, which form and arch, and salute both flags at the same time, by placing the right hand on the left breast and bringing the left hand to the corner of the left eye, forming a right angle.

In addition to the program giving the memory hymns and scripture lessons, the audience enjoyed the Shoemaker's song and dance by the kindergarten class, the Japanese drill by the Primary class and the dramatization of The Wise and Foolish Virgins, by the Juniors. The craft work displayed on the tables also attracted many of the people.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson had for his subject yesterday morning: "The Multiplying Power of Christianity."

His text was found in Matthew 28:17 "Go tell his disciples—He is risen."

He said that many methods have been advanced for lifting up the world.

Richard Cobden thought it could be done by repealing the corn laws of England. This did stop murder by starvation.

Horace Mann undertook to lift up the world by establishment of free public schools. But this in itself did not save us.

William Lloyd Garrison would lift up the world by abolishing slavery. Commenting upon these plans, the minister continued:

"How different the plan of Jesus. He came to establish a kingdom of righteousness, happiness and peace. His method is that each person having heard the good news is to bear the glad tidings to others."

He commissioned the Garden demagogue to go to his home and tell them what god things the Lord had done for him. The woman at the tomb was to go and tell the discouraged disciple that he is risen and goeth before them. When John the Baptist sent to Jesus asking if he were the Christ he said "Go tell John the things you have seen and heard."

Today, his disciples having found the gateway to the kingdom, are searching every where to bring others in. Dr. Grenfell is at work among the Esquimaux. Dan Crawford is in Africa. The Presbyterian church has 1,545 missionaries in the field, besides many native helpers.

Carelessness and Fires

Four-fifths of the fires each year
are man-made. All of them might be prevented by the ordinary exercise of care.

Just now it is especially imperative that every precaution be taken to avoid starting fires, because the dry season of the year is here and the danger of heavy loss is increased manifold.

Careless campers are the worst offenders. Fires left burning in the woods or lighted cigar and cigarette,
stubs tossed into the brush last season
burned more timberland than was
cut by all sawmills in the country during the whole year.

More forests are burned each year than are regrown and millions of dollars of property loss are the direct result of carelessness.

Fires in rural sections are much more hazardous because of the lack of fire fighting facilities, and campers

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer

NEW YORK—The Ku Klux Klan
battle in the Democratic National Convention already is bearing fruit.

Reports from the south and west
are that klansmen, under the stimulus of the advertising given the
organization by the New York contest, are renewing organization efforts and that greater numbers of recruits than ever before enrolled in a similar time have been listed within the past 10 days.

At Richmond, Va., on July 4, one of the largest "naturalization"
ceremonies ever staged under the Flaming Cross was carried out
before an audience estimated at 20,000.

New Jersey, West Virginia, Indiana, South Carolina, Kansas and
other southern and western states
report a renaissance of the Klan movement, all of which is declared
to have been directly due to the antiklan activity brought to a head in the fight on the Democratic platform.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
therefore, appears to have proven a true prophet for once.

In opposing direct mention of the Klan in his party's platform,
he maintained that the emphasis
and importance which such action
would attach to the Klan would be
the biggest factor in perpetuating
it or even in adding to its strength.
Subsequent events seem to confirm this contention.

In their new drive for membership, klansmen are quoting George Washington as the first American voicing the Klan creed. They cite his famous order: "Put none but Americans on guard tonight," as
containing the crux of the Klan viewpoint, which they insist is purely a demand for Americanism, as the first and supreme requirement for all posts of public trust.
Also, the barrier set up by the constitution against any but native-born Americans being eligible to election as president, they con-

and picnickers should be especially cautious with fire.

When farmers permit the use of their land for camping and picnic parties, it is nothing more than right that those enjoying the farmer's hospitality should take every precaution to avoid destroying his property.

Saving Public From Experiments

A large part of the business of the world results from trying to prevent people from injuring themselves through their own careless acts.

In Chicago is located a unique institution known as the Underwriters' Laboratories. It was established by insurance companies and is for the sole purpose of testing at cost every form of manufactured device as to its fire resisting or accident preventing qualities.

Here are assembled engineers and chemists who, with the aid of every modern mechanical device, aid manufacturers in testing any product before it is offered for sale to the public.

After a fire-proof door, a safe, an automobile lock or an automobile bumper has gone through the various heat and destruction tests which they give it, it has either proved itself worthy of the label issued by the Laboratories to approved products or it has shown weaknesses which may be corrected by the manufacturer before it is offered for sale.

In other words, the Laboratory is rapidly eliminating the days when the buyer paid for experiments of the manufacturer. In doing this it is safeguarding the public against innumerable risks formerly involved in buying and using untested materials and manufactured appliances.

The Hodge - Podge

Although boots are out of date, there

It's far better to be somebody in a tend, is inspired by the same motive and is identical in intent, with Klan limitation into all state and federal offices and would add a religious as well as citizenship barrier.

THE extent to which Klan influence and activities will enter into the coming campaign, scouts
reporting here predict, has not
been adequately estimated by even
the most cynical political prognosticator.

Perhaps, because of the super-
heated atmosphere in this city during recent weeks, this is a distorted view. But the politically wise say that the Ku Klux movement just
now resembles the sweep of Know Nothingism back in the early 50's,
which reached extremes of bitterness and vindictiveness not yet paralleled in the Klan situation.

THE blistered heel which brought
death to Calvin Coolidge, Jr.,
from septic poisoning came just
after he had completed plans for a vacation which he and his older brother John had mapped out for themselves this summer.

The boys' visit with their parents at the White House, following
the close of the school year at Mercersburg Academy, where John
was graduated in June, was to be followed by a six-weeks stay at Camp Devens, Mass. There they
were counting on having one rousing good time until late in August,
when they were to return to Washington for another little "home
visit" before returning to school.
Calvin, Jr., was to return to Mercersburg for his senior year, while John is slated to enter Anshurst—his father's alma mater—in September.

ONE disgusted Democratic delegate at the New York convention, after the eightieth futile ballot had been cast, remarked to any
and all who cared to hear:
"This party sure did pick the right emblem! No, not a donkey—
a plain jackass!"

"Twenty One" at Princess

Beginning today, the screen of the Princess Theatre will offer Inspiration Pictures Corporation's production of "Twenty-One" starring Richard Barthelmess. This First National
picture marks Dick's return to a modern role for the first time in nearly a year.

In addition to Barthelmess, the cast contains the names of Dorothy Mackaill, Bradley Barker and a dozen others of importance.

The story deals with the love of a rich man's son for a factory girl and
the efforts of his father to frustrate
the romance. How the boy takes things into his own hands and proves
his manhood provides some remarkable situations.

Dorothy Mackaill appears in support of Barthelmess again in this picture and her portrayal of the wistful working girl fits her perfectly.

Ivan Simpson has an important character part and the picture is full of flappers petting parties, bathing
beach parties and other evidences of
the activities of modern youth.

Lon Chaney Starring

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame",
the massive and much heralded film
production of Victor Hugo's story masterpiece which swept into overnight fame in New York, will be given
its local premier at the Castle theatre
Monday July 14, when it begins a 2
day engagement.

Never before, it is said, has there been offered a picture production representing so stupendous a cost—$1,- 500,000—, never a film presentation
so exact in its details, so artistic in
its conception, so wonderful in the
acting of its seventy-five principals,
two hundred sub-principals and in
the handling of the mob scenes in which more than 3,000 persons take part.

Lon Chaney, admittedly the finest interpreter of unusual character
role on either stage or screen, plays
the stellar part of Quasimodo, the de-
formed bell-ringer of Notre Dame, with Earnest Torrence as Chopin, the underworld king; and Patsy Miller as Esmeralda.

The spirit of the story is Quasimo-
do, the hunchback an elemental creature, twisted in body and restricted
in mind, who haunts the great church Quasimodo, as Mr. Chaney presents
him, is said to be a grotesque monster, and yet under the forbidding
aspect the actor succeeds in making
the character human and pitiful.
His daring poses on the projecting
gargoyles of the cathedral, his bold
descent, stone by stone, of the front facade of the great church, his hazardous swinging on the great bells
at the risk of his life, the gruesome
scene of his castigation in the market place and the pathos of his final
act as, dying, he rings his own death
knell on his beloved bells, are features, it is said, that make "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" the most noted film production to date.

Ben Sparks, a popular young man
of this city, left suddenly last night
for California, where he intends to reside permanently. He did not even apprise his most intimate friends of
his intentions, but jumped on the train and was on his way before few knew about it. He has had much experience in automobile work and intends to enter that line of work in the far west.

There was a grin on many faces,
a look of disgust on others and the remainder of the little cortege carried perplexed countenances. It was at the C. H. and D. passenger depot
last evening when the through train
from Chicago stopped for a few minutes. The cause of all these various emotions being displayed on the faces
that peered into the rear coach on the train was the fact that a woman
was in the smoking compartment of
the pullman nonchalantly smoking away on a cigarette.

Mel Hungerford was painfully hurt
last week while helping make hay on their farm west of here. While unloading hay his arm was caught in distance. His arm and hand were badly lacerated.

IS EVERY DAY A
BACKACHE DAY?

Rushville Folks Have Found the Cause and Corrected it

Is your back lame and achy? Are you tortured with sharp, rheumatic pain; miserable with headaches, dizzy spells and kidney irregularities? No wonder, then, you feel worn-out and discouraged. But have you given any thought to your kidneys? You should!
Weak kidneys cause just such troubles. Don't risk neglect! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Here's a Rushville case.

George W. Conrad, retired stationary engineer, 810 W. Third St., says:
"Backache bothered me day in and day out. Every time I tried to lift, a sharp pain darted across the small of my back and when I got up in the morning, it was hard to stir around.
The kidney secretions didn't pass nearly as often as they should, either.
Also specks before my eyes blurred my sight. Four boxes of Doan's Pills fixed me up in great shape."

TOO STRONG FOR RUSHVILLE CUBS DOWN KNIGHTSTOWN

Shelbyville Nationals. With Salaried Players, Win 8 to 0

The Shelbyville Nationals, with their salaried ball club of imported players, proved to be too much for the Rushville team of local talent, and the locals were given the short end of an 8 to 0 score in the game played here Sunday afternoon.

The visiting team with players from Anderson, Muncie and Indianapolis, landed on the ball with great force and pounded Fultz hard. The locals were unable to hit Redman with much success, and went down in every inning. Shelbyville cancelled the return game in that city. The local management has not determined definitely concerning the arrangements of future game for the club.

HONEYMOONS HARD ON YOUNG STARS

By FRANK GETTY
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 14—If there is a moral in what happened to two nice young American boys over in England this summer, it is: "Don't take your bride to the tournament with you."

Gene and Vinnie, to whom American golf and tennis enthusiasts point with pride, did that little thing. Both became benedicts on the eve of sailing for important championships at Hoylake and Wimbledon and, of course, the ladies went along. And look what happened!

A great disappointment to American tennis lovers was the failure of "Vinnie" Richards to come through at Wimbledon.

The youngster had been playing great tennis, and was favored to win. He had been accorded the honor of playing the first match on the center when the all-English championships, which carry with them the world's title opened.

Richards went out in the round before the semi-finals beaten fairly and squarely by Jean Borotra of France, who was at the top of a brilliant game. The New York boy, who like Sarazen, took his bride to England with him, did not appear nervous or unsteady in this match. He lacked speed and was outplayed. Time after time Borotra got home amazing back-hand drives which the American failed to return.

Most of the time, Richards was short, his drives catching the tape at the top of the net. Sometimes he overdrove. He made errors in judgment. On one occasion he committed three foot-faults in succession. He double-faulted frequently and his ground work was uncertain. No one could commit these faults that day and beat Borotra, whose ground work was excellent.

Richards must have been having an off-day at Wimbledon, at that; because he and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, paired in the mixed doubles the same afternoon, lost to O. G. N. Tubrull and Mrs. Graddock, England, and it wasn't Mrs. Jessup's fault, for she played her usual sound, aggressive game.

Gene Carazen has disappointed his followers again, by his poor showing at Hoylake, and they are beginning to wonder if the former caddy has gone back. He is as unbeatable as ever at match play, however, which is some comfort.

Gene had his new bride with him at Hoylake, and one would have thought he would have been at his best, if ever, even though he does not like medal play. But there he was, taking three puts on five greens—you can't do that and win a BRITISH open. And Gene had practiced, too, spending hours near and on the greens with mashie and putter.

HAGEN TO BE AT FRENCH LICK

French Lick, Ind., July 14—Walter Hagen, winner of the British open championship at Hoy Lake, and of many championships, will play in the Professional Golfers' tourney at French Lick Springs Sept. 14 to 20. Hagen will be one of the first choices to win that event, though he will meet there many golfers of his own class. All the golfers who went abroad this summer will return for the event at French Lick.

Go tell his disciples—He is risen," concluded the minister.

St. Paul's M. E. Church

"A sermon from the Sea," the second summer sermon in the series of "Gospel Messages from God's Great Out-of-doors," was the subject of the Rev. H. W. Hargett's sermon delivered Sunday morning at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church. He took his text from Isaiah 24: "The Sea hath spoken."

"If there are mountains in the Bible there are also seas," said the minister. "In the very beginning of the World, we find the spirit of God moving upon the face of the primal seas. At its close we find the spirit of God speaking through John on the rocky isle of Patmos, separated from the world by tossing tumultuous seas. In nearly every book in the Bible there is some reference to the sea. Often as in Isaiah and Job and the Psalm, the sea is personified. It is given intelligence and the power of utterance. To those who have ears to hear it says 'Listen and I will teach you truths great and eternal even the night and the majesty, the mystery and the mercy of God.'

Continuing he said, "The sea is a symbol of the night and the majesty of God. 'The sea is His and He made it. He ruleth the raging of the sea.' The Phoenicians, the Venetians, the Genoese, the Portuguese, the British have in turn claimed the mastery of the sea. Familiar but untrue is the phrase 'Britannia rules the wave.' It is God that rules the wave. Along its vast aisles from horizon to horizon, above the tossing riot of the waves is the one sovereign of the seas. Man has changed the face of the earth, but though his ships have plowed the deep for centuries they have left no mark behind. Sitting by the side of the restless sea you may see the children pushing with chubby pink fingers their boats made of bits of wood. With tiny handkerchiefs for sails. Beyond upon the sea are the black plumes of smoke from mighty ocean steamers, cruel battle ships, freighters, fruiters and other boats of commerce. Multiply them all a thousand, a million fold and the mighty ocean would not feel the burden. Such is God the great burden-bearer of the race. Bring your little burdens, your little sorrows, as well as your great ones, lay them upon Him. You cannot overload His love nor His power.

"In all ages the sea has been a symbol of mystery. What are the wild waves saying, 'Mystery, Mystery.' Aristotle is said to have committed suicide because he could not solve the mystery of the tides. Under the surface of the sea are currents running in different directions, forests whose roots touch no earth, animal and plant life existing in variety that of the surface of the earth. There also are hidden many of the sad tragedies, the sorrows of the sea. If you cannot understand all the mysteries of the sea that tosses its waves on the beach at your feet how can you expect to understand the God who 'plants his footsteps on the sea and rides upon the storm.'

The sea is a symbol of the mercy of God. Men sometimes speak of the barren sea and of the wild wastes of the sea. The Greeks were wiser. They gave the world the myth of Aphrodite goddess of beauty, who rose out of the sea, as their story ran, and hastened to the land where grass and flowers and luscious fruits and golden grain sprang up beneath her tread. The old myth is now known to be a scientific truth. All the verdure of nature is born from the mist of the sea. The sun lifts it from the sea, it is borne in the chariot of the winds over the earth and dropped in dew and showers that all nature may be robed in loveliness—a fitting symbol of the infinite mercy of God.

"Up on the Maine coast I have watched the tide sweeping with great power through narrow channels into the salt ponds beyond the hills," said the Rev. Mr. Hargett. "In the channel often some enterprising workman has placed a tide mill. By means of a simple broad bladed paddle wheel he harnesses the power of the sea to his simple homely tasks. The tides that sweep around the earth, that touch every continent and every island, that rock the ice floes of the north and break on India's coral strand, do not refuse the simple task of plowing in a narrow channel and turning the wheel of a humble mill. Thus the tides of the Spirit that sweep around the world are available for all that every humble human task may manifest the lifting power of the divine mercy. Can you realize the wideness of the sea? Can you fathom its depths? Can you measure its power? No. Then never limit the mercy of God. In Christ, all the weary, erring, sinful sons and daughters of men may find pardon, rest and peace. For,

"There's a wideness in God's mercy that is wider than the sea."

First Baptist

Preaching the second of a series of sermons on "The Relations of the Christian" Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. R. W. Sage's sermon theme at the First Baptist church, was "The Relation of the Christian to Jesus, His Saviour." These sermons are based upon Jesus' final discourse with his disciples before the crucifixion, John 14:17.

After drawing three pictures of the results of the relationship in human life, the first picture from African Missions, the second from the life of Apostle Paul, and the third from a story of modern American life, the pastor defined the first characteristic of this relationship as one of interdependence.

"Jesus likened this relationship," he said, "to that of the vine and the branches. While it is true that the vine is absolutely necessary, and without it there could be no branch, yet it is equally true that the branch and its fruit are the only real reason for the vine. Jesus said, 'Apart from me ye can do nothing,' and he may well have added, I think, 'and apart from you I have chosen to do nothing.' He is dependent upon us for the reformation of his own life in the world of today. We are his chief means of communication.

"The other characteristic of this relationship is that of friendship. But friendship is a matter of development. It is years in the making. Yet it must of course, have a starting place. If you have not thought of Jesus in terms of friendship, will you not give him that right today? You will never appreciate him as you should until you open your life to the required intimacy of friendship. If you would understand the relation of Jesus to the Christian understand Him first as your friend in the fullest sense of that word."

Sharpsville—Bad luck is pursuing the Hawkins family. Just after Mrs. Hawkins returned from the hospital where she had undergone an operation, her small son fell on a moving machine and was severely cut. Then a daughter fell and broke her leg while climbing a fence.

Attica—Mrs. Hattie Donahue, of Independence, has a flower in bloom that is a mystery to local botanists. The bloom is 20 inches in length and similar to a calla lily and is of rose color. The bloom is from a bulb that does not require moisture at all.

Warsaw—"Bobbed" trees will be the style in Warsaw if citizens comply with the order of the city council in ordering trees trimmed permitting street lights to show more brightly.

Washington—Three candidates for the "hardest working man in town" have been found. They are: Lok Chuey who works fourteen hours a day in his laundry, city attorney John Spencer, who gets up at five to work in his bakery and then works until six at his law office, and Homer McGafferty, Manhattan cafe proprietor, who reports at 11 in the morning and works straight through until five the next morning.

HIT BY RECKLESS DRIVER

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawson of Indianapolis Brought Here for Treatment After Crash

Two automobile accidents happened Sunday in the vicinity of Rushville, in which the occupants escaped with cuts and bruises, but several machines were damaged.

A touring car in which several people were riding, struck a culvert west of Arlington and turned over, injuring two. The driver's name was not learned but the two other passengers who were injured were said to be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lawson of Indianapolis.

They were brought to the Dr. Sexton hospital and Mr. Lawson was said to be the most seriously hurt. One of his hands was badly cut and bruised, and several stitches were required to close the wounds. His wife also was severely cut but neither suffered broken bones.

Sunday afternoon late, two cars smashed head on on the road just west of here. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bristor of Indianapolis were driving toward Rushville to visit her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Wooden. Frank Abercrombie of this city was going west toward them, when a Ford touring car attempted to swing in around the Abercrombie machine, and failed to clear the oncoming car.

Both machines were badly smashed, and the occupants were bruised and cut. The driver of the Ford was not known. The Abercrombie machine was steered clear of the collision, avoiding a serious smash-up.

PARIS A TUMULT AS AIRMAN ARRIVE

American Round the World Fliers Make Special Effort to Reach French Capital for Holiday

First Thing Desired by Weary Airmen Was Place to go to Bed—Needed Rest Sacrificed

(By United Press)

Paris July 14—Three weary American airmen, with bloodshot eyes and wind burnt faces, streaked with lines of suffering, piloted their airplanes to Paris today, having flown more than two thirds of the way around the world, and the first thing they wanted to do was to go to bed.

The tumultuous welcome of Paris in holiday garb and the rejoicing of their countrymen here were music in the American world fliers' ears, but what they craved most was a pillow.

Lieutenants Smith, Nelson and Wade, who flew here today from Vienna, appeared nearly exhausted by their efforts. They showed the marks of the hardships they had endured—the burning heat of India and the biting frozen blazes of the northern Pacific had left their imprint.

"We feel fine, except for loss of sleep," Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the commander, told the United Press. "We are going right to bed."

The Americans had done their bit for France on this country's national holiday—sacrificing some badly needed rest at Vienna in order to arrive here on July 14, "Bastille Day." Their coming was the climax of the holiday.

"We encountered a severe storm after leaving Vienna," Lieutenant Smith reported. "Our ships were badly buffeted, and for an hour we flew in a heavy rainstorm."

"The flight commander himself showed the strain of his efforts. He has suffered from dysentery and a fractured rib, but has clung gamely to the task at hand."

Washington, July 14—With three quarters of their route behind them now, the American flyers are about to enter the last stage of their flight.

Major General Patrick, chief of the air service, said today he expected to see them reach home soil again at Boston about August 10.

To date the flyers have covered 18,935 miles in 118 days. They have actually spent 239 hours and 33 minutes in the air, covering an average of about 75 miles an hour while flying.

Before them still stretches a route of 7,296 miles, divided into two stages, from Paris to Boston, 4,466 miles and from Boston to Santa Monica, California, their starting point, 2,830 miles.

PROBABLY SEEK AN INSANITY HEARING

Attorneys For Millionaire Chicago Youths Will File Papers at Session July 21

TRIAL DATE SET AUGUST 4

Defense May Attempt to Obtain Insanity Hearing Rather Than Face Criminal Trial

(By United Press)

Chicago, July 14—Attorneys engaged by the millionaire Leopold and Loeb families in an effort to save their 19-year-old sons from the gallows may demand that the youths be given an insanity hearing instead of a criminal trial, according to present indications.

Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Dickey Loeb are scheduled to go to trial August 4 on charges of murdering 14-year-old Robert Franks.

But on July 21, Judge John R. Covenly will hear any and all motions defense counsel may have to offer. At this hearing it is expected that Clarence Darrow, heading attorneys for the defense, will ask that Leopold and Loeb be given an insanity hearing rather than a murder trial.

The main line of the defense so far plotted by Darrow and his aides is a plea that the youthful murderers are insane. If Leopold and Loeb were found insane they would be confined to a sanitarium—if they were found sane, then he could plan an entirely new defense to be used in the trial for murder.

But because of the defendants' confessions of the crime Darrow admits the task of framing a defense exclusive of the insanity plea would be difficult.

More than a dozen medical experts have examined young Leopold and Loeb. These men are practically unanimous in their belief that the boys may be declared insane, Darrow said. Having just about finished their tests they now are compiling their findings into such a form as can be used in arguments before a jury.

X-ray pictures, medical charges, diagrams and reams of expert testimony will be available. The lives of Leopold and Loeb will be opened up and charted by "curves" explaining the events which led to the murder of the Franks boy.

Leopold and Loeb are both standing up well under prison confinement. They have kept themselves in splendid physical condition and apparently are cheerful.

People of Lincoln Acclaim Nominee For Vice President

(By United Press)

Lincoln, Neb., July 14—Gov. Charles W. Bryan, democratic vice presidential nominee arrived home just before noon today and was greeted with ear breaking din from several thousand automobile horns, bands and factory sirens.

A crowd, estimated at 10,000, filled the station platforms. With the Elks band playing "Keeping in With the Union" in the van, the line of marchers got started. Business was at a standstill, the populace jamming the sidewalks and crowded windows in office buildings. Everywhere a bellman of noise almost drowned out bands and drum corps in the parade.

From the business district the marchers swung down the avenue, leading to the governor's mansion, where his wife and family were waiting for him.

The decision of the court was for $26.65 and costs against Miller, in favor of Thompson. The costs almost equalled the judgment, which amounted to $31.65.

POLITICAL CAMPS REVIVE ACTIVITY

G. O. P. LEADERS RELIEVED

Glad That Ralston Failed in Nomination Because of State Ticket—Fall Campaign Discussed

Indianapolis, Ind., July 14—State political headquarters are taking on renewed life after a month of inactivity while interest was centered on the Republican and Democratic National Conventions.

Among Republican leaders there was a general feeling of relief that their campaign problems are simplified by the fact that Senator Ralston is not the Democratic nominee for president.

His withdrawal from the race just as a drive to swing the nomination for him was gaining formidable power places Indiana definitely in the Coolidge column this fall, according to the opinion of the Republicans.

During the convention when it appeared that Ralston would be the Democrats' choice, the state Republican leaders conceded he would carry Indiana and sweep most of the state ticket in office with him. Republican organization plans are nearly completed, according to Daily McCoy, state chairman. Details for the fall campaign were discussed at the mid-summer meeting of Indiana editors at West Baden Friday and Saturday.

Ed Jackson, Republican nominee, Frederick Schortemeier, candidate for secretary of state, Governor Branch and other leaders were in attendance at the gathering.

In the Democratic camp there is no effort to conceal disappointment over Ralston's withdrawal from the race. The men who worked for Ralston throughout the long session in New York were not seeking the nomination of Ralston through pride in a native son alone.

They also had an eye to his ability, as a campaigner as shown by his race for governor and the battle with Albert J. Beveridge for the senatorship.

Dr. Carleton McCulloch, Democratic nominee for governor was one of those puzzled over Ralston's move. McCulloch however, expressed optimism over the outlook after the nomination of Davis.

Dr. McCulloch will start his speaking tour about September 1.

Leaders of both parties are watching the third party movement headed by Senator LaFollette with some anxiety over the result his candidacy may have on the campaign. In some quarters it is predicted his candidacy will eat heavily into the ranks of both major parties.

VACATION SCHOOL GIVES A PROGRAM

Many People are Turned Away From Union Meeting at First Presbyterian Church Sunday Night

"A Sermon From the Sea" is Preached by the Rev. H. W. Harget at M. E. Church

The Vacation Bible School program at the First Presbyterian church brought out an overflow house Sunday night and many people had to be turned away. The total enrollment of the school was 97, thirty of whom were boys. The school lasted for five weeks. Fifteen did not miss a day. There were thirty-five who did not miss a day after they enrolled and found how pleasant the school was. Some went a few days and then left on their summer vacation. Others came in to take their places.

The motto of the Vacation Bible School is: "And they helped every one his neighbor, and every one said unto his brother, be of good cheer." The spirit of this motto is emphasized all through the school.

Every morning in closing the school the pupils salute the American flag and pledge allegiance also to the Christian flag. The salute to the Christian flag is made by placing the right hand over the left breast. The pledge is: "I pledge allegiance to the Christian flag and to the Savior for whose kingdom it stands, on brotherhood, uniting all mankind in service and love."

The children are always taught to give the place of honor to the Christian flag, said the Rev. Gibson Wilson the pastor, because when it is honored, greater honor comes to our flag. When they leave the school to go home they pass out under the two flags, which form and arch, and salute both flags at the same time, by placing the right hand on the left breast and bringing the left hand to the corner of the left eye, forming a right angle.

In addition to the program giving the memory hymns and scripture lessons, the audience enjoyed the Shoe-maker's song and dance by the kindergarten class, the Japanese drill by the Primary class and the dramatization of The Wise and Foolish Virgins, by the Juniors. The craft work displayed on the tables also attracted many of the people.

The Rev. Mr. Wilson had for his subject yesterday morning: "The Multiplying Power of Christianity." His text was found in Matthew 28:7 "Go tell his disciples—He is risen."

He said that many methods have been advanced for lifting up the world.

Richard Couden thought it could be done by repealing the corn laws of England. This did stop murder by starvation.

Horace Mann undertook to lift up the world by establishment of free public schools. But this in itself did not save us.

"How different the plan of Jesus. He came to establish a kingdom of righteousness, happiness and peace. His method is that each person having heard the good news is to hear the glad tidings to others."

He commissioned the Garden denarius to go to his home and tell them what good things the Lord had done for him. The woman at the tomb was to go and tell the discouraged disciple that he is risen and goeth before them. When John the Baptist sent to Jesus asking if he were the Christ he said "Go tell John the things you have seen and heard."

Today, his disciples having found the gateway to the kingdom, are searching every where to bring others in. Dr. Grenfell is at work among the Esquimaux. Dan Crawford is in Africa. The Presbyterian church has 1,545 missionaries in the field, besides many native helpers.

Within the lifetime of our oldest member you have seen the Board of Foreign Missions organized.

The spring that does not overflow becomes stagnant. Your Christianity must overflow to others, if it continues to be a living force in you.

Our duty is to help in the spreading of the message of Christ and his Continued on Page Six

Obituary

Amanda Cassidy, daughter of Jane and Francis Cassidy was born in Fleming county Ky., August 29th, 1841 and died June 20th, 1924, aged 82 years, 9 months, 22 days.

On December 21, 1861, she was united in marriage to James W. Souley, who departed this life December 1865. To this union was born two daughters, Sue who passed away July 16th, 1886, and Ella who today mourns the death of her mother.

On February 1st, 1884 she was united in marriage to Jacob Webster who died April 26th, 1896. In addition to her daughter she is survived by one sister, Mrs. Belle Bowman of Lexington, Ky., and a number of nieces and nephews.

She united with the Christian Church in Kentucky in her younger days and later moved her membership to the Homer Christian church.

As we bow in sorrow with her stricken daughter we are sure that in this life her message has been delivered, and she lives now with Him, "Who doeth all things well."

"A precious one from us has gone. A voice we loved is stilled, A palace is vacant in our home, Which never can be filled."

Gas City—An "I didn't know it was loaded" victim turned up here. Peter Heater shot himself through the leg while cleaning a revolver.

Stomach Nausea

Chiropractic Health Talk No. 75
By H. V. McCully, D. C., Ph. C.

Many persons have a good appetite one day and sickness at the sight of food the next. There is often belching of gas and a taste of bitter fluid. Frequently the tongue is coated. There may or may not be pain in the stomach. Headache and dizziness often accompany these symptoms.

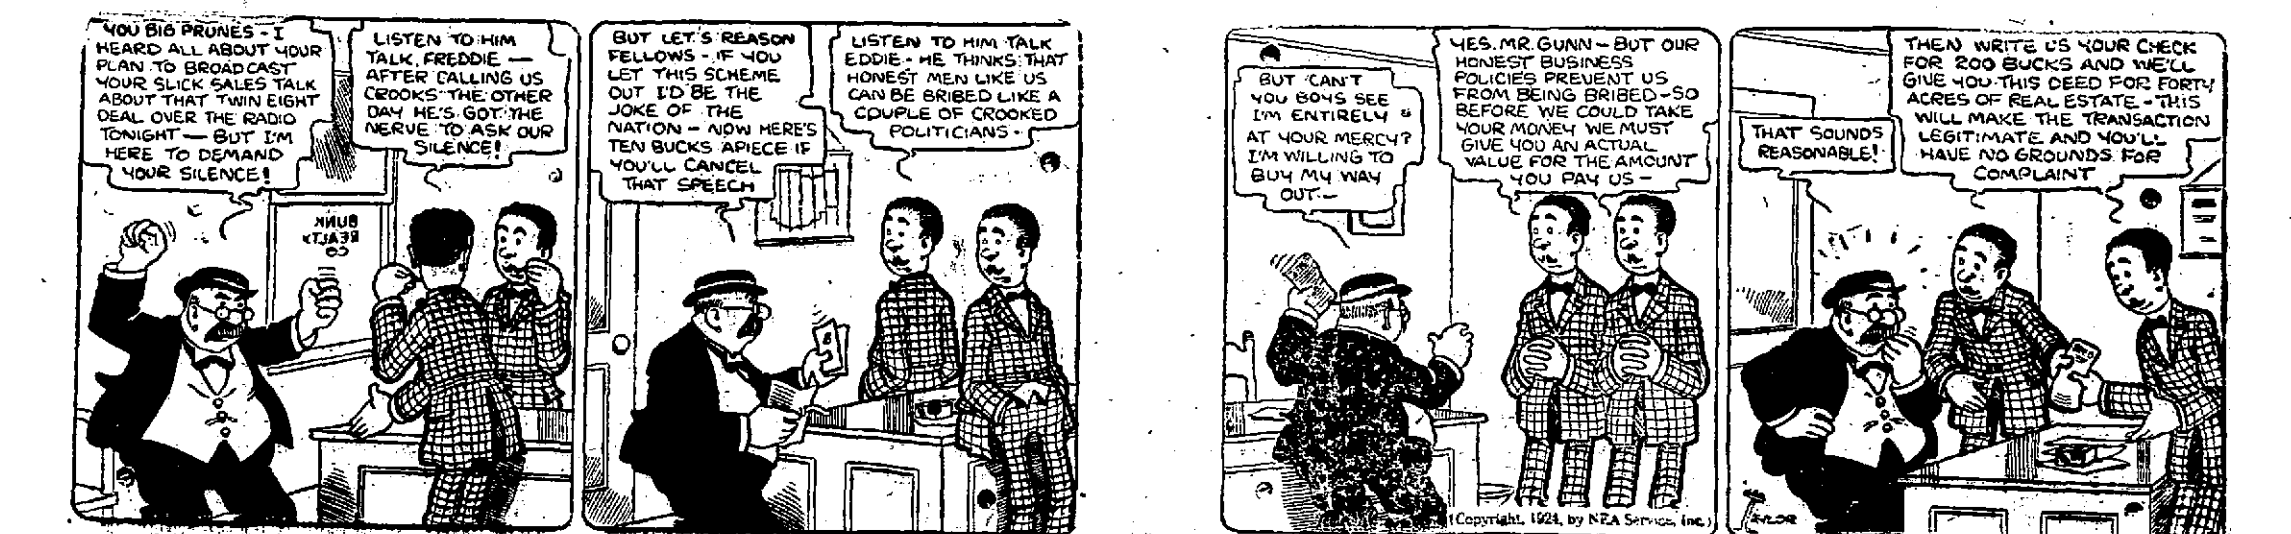

The stomach, like every other part of the body is dependent upon spinal nerves for strength and vigor. Adjustments of joints of the backbone which have become out of alignment at "stomach place" restore normal stomach strength. Digestion and all the processes of the stomach become normal when there is 100% nervous energy.

Carelessness and Fires

Four-fifths of the fires each year
are man-made. All of them might be prevented by the ordinary exercise
of care.Just now it is especially imperative
that every precaution be taken to
avoid starting fires, because the dry
season of the year is here and the
danger of heavy loss is increased manifold.Careless campers are the worst
woods or lighted cigar and cigarette,
stubs tossed into the brush last season
burned more timberland than was
cut by all sawmills in the country
during the whole year.More forests are burned each year than are regrown and millions of dollars of property loss are the direct result of carelessness.Fires in rural sections are much more hazardous because of the lack of fire fighting facilities, and campersA CHILD IN PAIN runs to Mother

HUNT'S DAILY LETTER

BY HARRY B. HUNT
NEA Service Writer.NEW YORK—The Ku Klux Klan
battle in the Democratic National Convention already is bearing fruit.Reports from the south and west
are that klansmen, under the stimulus of the advertising given the
organization by the New York contest, are renewing organization efforts and that greater numbers of recruits than ever before enrolled in a similar time have been listed within the past 10 days.At Richmond, Va., on July 4, one of the largest "rejuvenation"
ceremonies ever staged under the Flaming Cross was carried out
before an audience estimated at 30,000.New Jersey, West Virginia, Indiana, South Carolina, Kansas and
other southern and western states
report a recrudescence of the Klan movement, all of which is declared
to have been directly due to the
anti-Klan activity brought to a
head in the fight on the Democratic platform.WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN,
therefore, appears to have proven a true prophet for once.In opposing direct mention of
the Klan in his party's platform,
he maintained that the emphasis
and importance which such action
would attach to the Klan would be
the biggest factor in perpetuating
it or even in adding to its strength.
Subsequent events seem to confirm this contention.In their new drive for membership, klansmen are quoting George Washington as the first American
voicing the Klan creed. They cite his famous order: "But none but Americans on guard tonight," as
containing the crux of the Klan
viewpoint, which they insist is merely a demand for Americanism
as the first and supreme requirement for all posts of public trust.Also, the barrier set up by the constitution against any, but native-born Americans being eligible to election as president, they con-tend, is inspired by the same motive and is identical in intent, with Klan limitation into all state and
federal offices and would add a
religious as well as citizenship barrier.THE extent to which Klan influence and activities will enter
into the coming campaign, scouts
reporting here predict, has not
been adequately estimated by even
the most cynical political prognosticator.Perhaps, because of the super-
heated atmosphere in this city during recent weeks, this is a distorted
view. But the politically wise say that the Ku Klux movement just
now resembles the sweep of Know
Nothingism back in the early '50's,
which reached extremes of bitter-
ness and vindictiveness not yet paralleled in the Klan situation.THE blistered heel which brought
death to Calvin Coolidge, Jr.,
from septic poisoning came just
after he had completed plans for a
vacation which he and his older
brother John had mapped out for themselves this summer.The boys' visit with their parents at the White House, following
the close of the school year at Mercersburg Academy, where John
was graduated in June, was to be
followed by a six-weeks stay at Camp Devens, Mass. There they
were counting on having one rous-
ing good time until late in August,
when they were to return to Washington for another little "home
visit" before returning to school.
Calvin, Jr., was to return to Mer-
cersburg for his senior year, while John is slated to enter Amherst—
his father's alma mater—in September.ONE disgusted Democratic delegate at the New York convention, after the eightieth futile ballot had been cast, remarked to any
and all who came to hear:
"This party sure did pick the
right emblem! No, not a donkey—
a plain jackass!"

"Twenty One" at Princess

Beginning today, the screen of the Princess Theatre will offer Inspiration Pictures Corporation's production of "Twenty One" starring Richard Barthelmess. This First National
picture marks Dick's return to a modern role for the first time in nearly a year.In addition to Barthelmess the
cast contains the names of Dorothy Mackaill, Bradley Barker and a dozen others of importance.The story deals with the love of a rich man's son for a factory girl and
the efforts of his father to frustrate
the romance. How the boy takes
things into his own hands and proves
his manhood provides some remarkable situations.Dorothy Mackaill appears in support of Barthelmess again in this picture and her portrayal of the wistful working girl fits her perfectly.Ivan Simpson has an important character part and the picture is full
of flappers, petting parties, bathing
beach parties and other evidences of
the activities of modern youth.

Lon Chaney Starring

"The Hunchback of Notre Dame",
the massive and much heralded film
production of Victor Hugo's story
masterpiece which swept into over-
night fame in New York, will be given
its local premier at the Castle theatre
Monday July 14, when it begins a 2
day engagement.Never before, it is said, has there
been offered a picture production representing so stupendous a cost—$1,- 500,000—never a film presentation
so exact in its details, so artistic in
its conception, so wonderful in the
acting of its seventy-five principals,
two hundred sub-principals and in
the handling of the mob scenes in
which more than 3,000 persons take part.Lon Chaney, admittedly the finest interpreter of unusual character
role on either stage or screen, plays
the stellar part of Quasimodo, the de-
formed bell-ringer of Notre Dame, with Earnest Torrence as Clopin, the underworld king; and Patsy Miller as Esmeralda.The spirit of the story is Quasim-
do, the hunchback an elemental creature, twisted in body and restricted
in mind, who haunts the great church Quasimodo, as Mr. Chaney presents
him, is said to be a grotesque monster, and yet under the forbidding
aspect the actor succeeds in making
the character human and pitiful.
His daring poses on the projecting
gargoyles of the cathedral, his bold
descent, stone by stone, of the front
facade of the great church, his hazardous swinging on the great bells
at the risk of his life, the gruesome
scene of his castigation in the market place and the pathos of his final
act as, dying, he rings his own death
knell on his beloved bells, are features, it is said, that make "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" the most noted film production to date.FIFTEEN YEARS

Ben Sparks, a popular young man
of this city, left suddenly last night
for California, where he intends to reside permanently. He did not even
apprise his most intimate friends of
his intentions, but jumped on the
train and was on his way before few
knew about it. He has had much experience in automobile work and in-
tends to enter that line of work in the far west.There was a grin on many faces,
a look of disgust on others and the
remainder of the little cortege carried perplexed countenances. It was at the C. H. and D. passenger depot
last evening when the through train
from Chicago stopped for a few minutes. The cause of all these various
emotions being displayed on the faces
that peered into the rear coach on the
train was the fact that a woman
was in the smoking compartment of
the pullman nonchalantly smoking
away on a cigarette.Met Hungerford was painfully hurt
last week while helping make hay on
their farm west of here. While unloading hay his arm was caught in the rope and he was carried some distance. His arm and hand were badly lacerated.Miss Harriet Vredenburg is in receipt of a letter from Ai Dieu Liu, sition at the Norm Norris' barber shop and intends to start a pool room in Falmouth about the first of September.Pershing was in France during the general can't fight in every war.Water tank of a Chicago laundry collapsed. How strange! We thought they washed the clothes with sand.Two men were arrested for sleeping in a Los Angeles theater and we think we have seen that show.Thin summer dresses are not so worse. In St. Louis, a thin dress enabled a girl to tear away from a robber.Lightning bugs are not so different from some men. A lightning bug can see where he has been but not where he is going.A Washington man who went in swimming just after eating a big picnic lunch was revived in only 45 minutes.A gardener who started out with the slogan "Watch us grow," tells us the weeds must have heard it.This summer seems to be going crazy with the heat.Times change rapidly. Sometime

TOO STRONG FOR RUSHVILLE CUBS DOWN KNIGHTSTOWN

Shelbyville Nationals, With Salaried Players, Win 8 to 0

The Shelbyville Nationals, with their salaried ball club of imported players, proved to be too much for the Rushville team of local talent, and the locals were given the short end of an 8 to 0 score in the game played here Sunday afternoon.

The visiting team with players from Anderson, Muncie and Indianapolis, landed on the ball with great force and pounded Faltz hard. The locals were unable to hit Redman with much success, and went down in every inning. Shelbyville cancelled the return game in that city. The local management has not determined definitely concerning the arrangements of future game for the club.

The Rushville Cubs made it two straight from the Knightstown club Sunday, when they defeated the team there by the score of 10 to 3. Kelly, pitcher for Rushville, held the visitors to five hits, only one of which was an extra base hit.

A few changes have been made in the line-up in the last few games. All have been successful. The Cubs want a game for next Sunday. The score by innings:

K'town 010 101 000 -3 -5-2 R'ville 200 302 12 x-10-10-4

KEEPING ONE EYE ON THE SCOREBOARD

Yesterday's Hero—Joe Bush, Yankee moundman, let the Browns down with five hits while his team mates amassed a 6 to 2 victory.

The veteran Al Sotheron was chased from the mound while the Robins were pounding out their 9 to 4 victory over the Cards, but lost the second 6 to 0.

Three home runs from the Giant's heavy sluggers enabled New York to pound out a 9 to 6 win over the Cubs.

Umpire Holmes was struck on the jaw by irate fans after Holmes had banished Manager Harris, yet the Senators won from the Indians 15 to 11.

SEEK PLACE FOR MINERS

Clinton, Ind., July 14—The state chamber of commerce is cooperating with the local chamber of commerce in finding work for 1,000 miners temporarily out of work because of the slack season in the coal industry.

Rather than have the men move away to other cities, the Clinton chamber of commerce took steps to find jobs for them and appealed to the state chamber to point out new lines of work to help relieve the unemployment.

HONEYMOONS HARD ON YOUNG STARS

By FRANK GETTY
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 14—If there is a moral in what happened to two nice young American boys over in England this summer, it is: "Don't take your bride to the tournament with you."

Gene and Vinnie, to whom American golf and tennis enthusiasts point with pride, did that little thing. Both became benedicts on the eve of sailing for important championships at Hoylake and Wimbledon and, of course, the ladies went along. And look what happened!

A great disappointment to American tennis lovers was the failure of "Vinnie" Richards to come through at Wimbledon.

The youngster had been playing great tennis, and was favored to win. He had been accorded the honor of playing the first match on the center when the all-English championships, which carry with them the world's title opened.

Richards went out in the round before the semi-finals beaten fairly and squarely by Jean Borotra of France, who was at the top of a brilliant game. The New York boy, who like Sarazen, took his bride to England with him, did not appear nervous or unsteady in this match. He lacked speed and was outplayed. Time after time Borotra got home amazing back-hand drives which the American failed to return.

Most of the time, Richards was short, his drives catching the tape at the top of the net. Sometimes he overdrove. He made errors in judgment. On one occasion he committed three foot-faults in succession. He double-faulted frequently and his ground work was uncertain. No one could commit these faults that day and beat Borotra, whose ground work was excellent.

Richards must have been having an off-day at Wimbledon, at that; because he and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup, paired in the mixed doubles the same afternoon, lost to O. G. N. Tubrill and Mrs. Graddock, England, and it wasn't Mrs. Jessup's fault, for she played her usual sound, aggressive game.

Gene Carazen has disappointed his followers again, by his poor showing

at Hoylake, and they are beginning to wonder if the former caddy has gone back. He is as unbeatable as ever at match play, however, which is some comfort.

Gene had his new bride with him at Hoylake, and one would have thought he would have been at his best, if ever, even though he does not like medal play. But there he was, taking three puts on five greens—you can't do that and win a BRITISH open. And Gene had practiced, too, spending hours near and on the greens with mashie and putter.

HAGEN TO BE AT FRENCH LICK
French Lick, Ind., July 14—Walter Hagen, winner of the British open championship at Hoy Lake, and of many championships, will play in the Professional Golfers' tourney at French Lick Springs Sept. 14 to 20. Hagen will be one of the first choices to win that event, though he will meet there many golfers of his own class. All the golfers who went abroad this summer will return for the event at French Lick.

resurrection. This is to lift up the world.
You need only to look at the multiplying power of Christianity during the last one hundred years to know that herein lied the future happiness and usefulness of the world.
Go tell his disciples—He is risen," concluded the minister.

St. Paul's M. E. Church
"A sermon from the Sea," the second summer sermon in the series of "Gospel Messages from God's Great Out-of-doors," was the subject of the Rev. H. W. Hargett's sermon delivered Sunday morning at the St. Paul's Methodist Episcopal church. He took his text from Isaiah 24, "The Sea hath spoken."

"If there are mountains in the Bible there are also seas," said the minister. "In the very beginning of the world, we find the spirit of God moving upon the face of the primal seas. At its close we find the spirit of God speaking through John on the rocky isle of Patmos, separated from the world by tossing tumultuous seas. In nearly every book in the Bible there is some reference to the sea. Often as in Isaiah and Job and the Psalm, the sea is personified. It is given intelligence and the power of utterance. To those who have ears to hear it says 'Listen and I will teach you truths great and eternal even the night and the majesty, the mystery and the mercy of God.'

Continuing he said, "The sea is a symbol of the night and the majesty of God. 'The sea is His and He made it. He ruleth the raging of the sea.' The Phoenicians, the Venetians, the Genoese, the Portuguese, the British have in turn claimed the mastery of the sea. Familiar but untrue is the phrase 'Britannia rules the wave.' It is God that rules the wave. Along its vast aisles from horizon to horizon, above the tossing riot of the waves is the one sovereign of the seas. Man has changed the face of the earth, but though his ships have plowed the deep for centuries they have left no mark behind. Sitting by the side of the restless sea you may see the children pushing with chubby pink fingers their boats made of bits of wood. With tiny handkerchiefs for sails. Beyond upon the sea are the black plumes of smoke from mighty ocean steamers, cruel battle ships, freighters, fruiters and other boats of commerce. Multiply them all a thousand, a million fold and the mighty ocean would not feel the burden. Such is God the great burden-bearer of the race. Bring your little burdens, your little sorrows, as well as your great ones, lay them upon Him. You cannot overload His love nor His power.

"In all ages the sea has been a symbol of mystery. What are the wild waves saying, 'Mystery. Mystery.' Aristotle is said to have committed suicide because he could not solve the mystery of the tides. Under the surface of the sea are currents running in different directions, forests whose roots touch no earth, animal and plant life existing in variety that of the surface of the earth. There also are hidden many of the sad tragedies, the sorrows of the sea. If you cannot understand all the mysteries of the sea that tosses its waves on the beach at your feet how can you expect to understand the God who 'plants his footsteps on the sea and rides upon the storm.'

The sea is a symbol of the mercy of God. Men sometimes speak of the barren sea and of the wild wastes of the sea. The Greeks were wiser. They gave the world the myth of Aphrodite goddess of beauty, who rose out of the sea, as their story ran, and hastened to the land where grass and flowers and luscious fruits and golden grain sprang up beneath her tread. The old myth is now known to be a scientific truth. All the verdure of nature is born from the mist of the sea. The sun lifts it from the sea, it is borne in the chariot of the winds over the earth and dropped in dew and showers that all nature may be robed in loveliness—a fitting symbol of the infinite mercy of God.

"Up on the Maine coast I have watched the tide sweeping with great power through narrow channels into the salt ponds beyond the hills," said the Rev. Mr. Hargett. "In the channel often some enterprising workman has placed a tide mill. By means of a simple broad bladed paddle wheel he harnesses the power of the sea to his simple homely tasks. The tides that sweep around the earth, that touch

every continent and every island, that rock the ice floes of the north and break on India's coral strand, do not refuse the simple task of plowing in a narrow channel and turning the wheel of a humble mill. Thus the tides of the Spirit that sweep around the world are available for all that every humble human task may manifest the lifting power of the divine mercy. Can you realize the wideness of the sea? Can you fathom its depths? Can you measure its power? No. Then never limit the mercy of God. In Christ, all the weary, erring, sinful sons and daughters of men may find pardon, rest and peace. For, 'There's a wideness in God's mercy, that is wider than the sea.'

Preaching the second of a series of sermons on "The Relations of the Christian" Sunday morning, the pastor, Rev. R. W. Sage's sermon theme

at the First Baptist church, was "The Relation of the Christian to Jesus, His Saviour." These sermons are based upon Jesus' final discourse with his disciples before the crucifixion, John 14:17.

After drawing three pictures of the results of the relationship in human life, the first picture from Africa, Missions, the second from the life of Apostle Paul, and the third from a story of modern American life, the pastor defined the first characteristic of this relationship as one of interdependence.

"Jesus likened this relationship," he said, "to that of the vine and the branches. While it is true that the vine is absolutely necessary, and without it there could be no branch, yet it is equally true that the branch and its fruit are the only real reason for the vine. Jesus said, 'Apart from me ye can do nothing,' and he may well have added, I think, 'and apart from you I have chosen to do nothing.' He is dependent upon us for the reincarnation of his own life in the world of today. We are his chief means of communication.

"The other characteristic of this relationship is that of friendship. But friendship is a matter of development. It is years in the making. Yet it must of course, have a starting place. If you have not thought of Jesus in terms of friendship, will you not give him that right today? You will never appreciate him as you should until you open your life to the required intimacy of friendship. If you would understand the relation of Jesus to the Christian understand Him first as your friend in the fullest sense of that word."

All Over Indiana

Sharpsville—Bad luck is pursuing the Hawkins family. Just after Mrs. Hawkins returned from the hospital where she had undergone an operation, her small son fell on a mowing machine and was severely cut. Then a daughter fell and broke her leg while climbing a fence.

Attica—Mrs. Hattie Donahue, of Independence, has a flower in bloom that is a mystery to local botanists. The bloom is 20 inches in length and similar to a calla lily and is of rose color. The bloom is from a bulb that does not require moisture at all.

Warsaw—"Bobbed" trees will be the style in Warsaw if citizens comply with the order of the city council in ordering trees trimmed permitting street lights to show more brightly.

Washington—Three candidates for the "hardest working man in town" have been found. They are: Lok Chuey who works fourteen hours a day in his laundry, city attorney John Spencer, who gets up at five to work in his bakery and then works until six at his law office, and Homer McGafferty, Manhattan cafe proprietor, who reports at 11 in the morning and works straight through until five the next morning.
